

WHAT WOULD YOU BUILD IF YOU COULD REALLY EXPLOIT YOUR IMS™ LOG DATA?

Real-time Analytics Drive Real-time Decisions

It's no secret that IMS is essential to your organization's success. So, what are you doing about all the information in your IMS logs that isn't being used? And what if you could correlate the wealth of IMS information you already have to expand your business while keeping it secure?

Enter real-time IMS analytics, which enable you to:

- Capture better insights
- Prevent security breaches
- Find and fix problems in real time
- Ensure optimal performance and availability
- Increase revenue

But getting appropriate IMS log data to analyze typically has been a slow, risky, difficult, and expensive process—until now.

AMI Data Extractor for IMS

With AMI Data Extractor for IMS, you're able to:

- Gather and correlate IMS data in real time with near-zero overhead
- Structure intelligent filtering that extracts only the material you need
- Easily feed data to analytics engines and SIEM applications

Here are some benefits of using AMI Data Extractor with IMS:

- Exploit the value of IMS data within your analytics platforms, without affecting the performance of your IMS environment
- Get a clearer view of trends and patterns to learn deeper insights about your operations
- Drastically lower ingestion-based license charges by using just the information you need
- Make better business decisions to prevent problems and create new revenue streams
